2012 and the Art of Co-Creation, Part-2

As I continue this article on the winter solstice of 2012, I want to also address what will not be happening at that time. There are a lot of sincere, highly creative, well-intended good people who have mistakenly trapped themselves within their own delusions about 2012. Many of them are researchers and some of them are perhaps good business people. Either way, they have promoted some erroneous projections about 2012 and I will share a few of them with you now.

What Will Not Happen in 2012?

Below are six basic predictions about 2012 that I have researched and have found to be based upon nothing. Yet, they are in many ways very popular. I have listed these predictions below along with their rebuttal. The statements are taken mostly exactly or paraphrased for compression with the author cited with them. There is minor embellishment from me but not much. Here they are:

- (1) “Ancient Mayan prophecies based on two millennia of meticulous astronomical observations indicate that 12/21/12 will mark the birth of a new age, accompanied, as all births are, by blood and agony as well as hope and promise.” - Lawrence E. Joseph, Apocalypse 2012.

Answer: The Mayan Elders say the world will not end in 2012. Rather, it will be transformed into a better era, the era of the Fifth Sun (Dr. Carlos Barrios, Anthropologist, and Mayan Elder).

- (2) “Researchers say that Nibiru will hit the planet Earth in 2012 in alignment with the Mayan long count calendar.” - Lawrence E. Joseph, Apocalypse 2012.

Answer: There is no scientific observations or proof that Nibiru or Planet-X exists. Everyone would be able to see such an object around the world (Dr. David Morrison, senior scientist, NASA).

- (3) “Since the 1940’s, and particularly, since 2003, the Sun has behaved more tumultuously than any time since the rapid global warming that accompanied the melting of the last Ice Age. Solar physicists concur that solar activity will next peak, at record-setting levels, in 2012.” -Lawrence E. Joseph, Apocalypse 2012.

Answer: Solar Maximums happen every 11 years. Our next one will most likely happen in 2013, not 2012. We also had two years of no activity or solar minimum this period (Dr. David Morrison, senior scientist, NASA).

- (4) “The Earth’s magnetic field, our primary defense against harmful solar radiation, has begun to dwindle, with cracks comparable in scale to the ozone hole opening up randomly. A pole shift, in which such protection falls nearly to zero as the North and South magnetic poles reverse position, may well be under way.” - Gregg Braden, Zero-Point: The Collective Initiation & Lawrence E. Joseph, Apocalypse 2012.

Answer: There is no Pole Reversal of the Magnetic field in 2012, which happens every 400,000 years and takes 300 years to complete once it starts (Dr. David Morrison, senior scientist, NASA).

- (5) “The Galactic Alignment will be exact in 2012 and this will cause, as we pass through this transition, a colossal, global convergence of environmental destruction, social chaos, war and ongoing Earth changes.” - Lawrence E. Joseph, Apocalypse 2012

Answer: The Galactic alignment with the Earth and Sun has already happened in 1998. The 2012 alignment will happen well past the exact center of the Milky Way. The greater intensity had to be in 1998 (John Major Jenkins, Cosmogogenesis 2012).

(6) “Russian geophysicists believe that the Solar System has entered an interstellar energy cloud. This cloud is energizing and destabilizing the Sun and all the planets’ atmospheres. The predictions for catastrophe resulting from the Earth’s encounter with this energy cloud range from 2010 to 2020. We are moving into the photon belt now and will be entirely in it by 2012.” - Lawrence E. Joseph, Apocalypse 2012.

Answer: The Photon Belt does not exist, so the Solar System cannot be traveling through it. We also are moving away from the seven stars of the Pleiades and not toward them (Dr. David Morrison, senior scientist, NASA).

Having shown what December 21, 2012 is not about, let us now proceed to what it is about. Let us try to understand the significance of the consciousness shift that is taking place on our planet right now. The alignment of the Galaxy with the Sun and Earth began in 1980 and will end in 2016, and was exact in 1998. We could really call the time period from 1980 to 2012 the “2012 Era” as John Major Jenkins does. Therefore, the 2012 Era is now.

The Art of Conscious Co-Creation

Do we have to wait for December 21, 2012 to be aware of our ability to consciously create our world of reality with our God/Goddess? No, we do not. Many teachers have been sharing this spiritual fact with humanity for decades. In fact, we already unconsciously co-create our own reality individually and collectively. However, when it comes to practicing the art of conscious co-creation, some of us are better at it than others.

Quantum physics experiments in the twentieth century have already shown on a sub atomic level how human intention and observation determine the outcome of the experiment. One inescapable conclusion is that consciousness determines how the wave of potentiality collapses into the particle of our observation and intension.

Following along these same lines of thinking, Japanese researcher Dr. Masaru Emoto has done thousands of experiments showing how human thought and emotion control the shape and formation of water crystals. The conclusion of his work is that we control our own health through our thoughts since the human body is nearly 80% water.

Getting Started With Conscious Co-Creation

Have you ever noticed how you will be humming a song to yourself that you have not heard in years when suddenly or within a few hours the song is playing on the radio or at the shopping center? We were taught that these are coincidences. Let me inform you now and forever, they are not! They are unconscious co-creations created by you. You manifested that song, unconscious as to how the mechanism of manifestation works.

Have you ever noticed how one movie star can be appearing on six or seven television stations all on the same day in completely different movies? Do you think all the station managers got together and had a meeting and decided at that meeting to put all of those actors’ movies on their stations all on the same day? It is a warranted certainty that they did not. It was not a coincidence either. Either the actor himself or someone or a group of people manifested it. This is not a universe of chance and chaos. We live in a universe of intention and purpose.

Flipping the Switch

To start with, we must admit to ourselves that we really are co-creators of our own reality even if we are unaware of it. Once we accept this, then we are ready to do some progressive co-creating faith building exercises. The best way to do this is to make a list of twelve things we would like to see happen in our life. Make the list simple and made up of items that you truly can believe to be possible. Even though all things are possible, you are not ready for that yet.

For example, do not put on your list that you want to be the CEO of a fortune 500 company until you can really believe it totally. Rather, let your goals be somewhat smaller such as wanting your paperboy to put your newspaper in the plastic newspaper holder by your mailbox on a rainy day. Therefore, every time you see in your minds eye your newspaper boy carelessly throwing your newspaper on the wet ground, stop that thought instantly! Flip the switch and visualize your paperboy putting the newspaper in the plastic newspaper container by your mailbox.

Flipping the switch is a major key in accessing the mechanism of co-creation consciously and successfully. If you hate something, do not try to stop hating, rather flip the switch and start loving. Love is not the opposite of hate. Love stands alone.

Let me give you one of my examples of how this works. I wanted the city to cut the over grown lawn at my neighbors abandoned house. The lawn had not been cut in over six months. I had made scores of calls to the zoning commission during that time. All they could say was that they had had many complaints about the property and that it was on the list to be landscaped. I asked them how long this might take and they said that they had over four hundred other complaints they had to fix and could not really say. I was upset! Then I remembered to flip the switch. Every time I thought of my neighbor's uncut lawn, I immediately flipped the switch and saw their lawn as cut and trimmed. Four hours later when I came home from work the lawn was cut. Six months of complaining and phone calling accomplished very little because I was unconsciously creating the problem. I was creating the slow response from the city zoning commission through my ignorance. The more I vexed about the lawn the longer it got. What we focus on is what we get. Flipping the switch works and I was not surprised by the result because I knew it would work. I did not know how it would work, only that it would.

Once you get your list of twelve different things you want to manifest in your life, go over them everyday. Visualize them as already manifested in your life. See them as existing now. One by one as they manifest take them off your list and add new ones to take their places. This way you will see your progress and stop yourself from getting hung up on the ones that have not manifested yet. In this way you will build your faith to be able to manifest bigger things as time goes by.

2012 and Beyond

The world will not end on 2012 and another Mayan age will begin anew. Not everyone will understand what is happening at that time on the same exact level. Just as everyone does not get up when the sun rises, not everyone in 2012 will understand the full reality of conscious co-creation. However, for those who are ready, they will be able to receive the attunement that comes straight from the heart of the Milky Way Galaxy to their hearts via the heart of our Sun to the heart of our Mother Earth. Finally, for those of us who are already awake, we can receive that awareness and attunement now. It is my greatest desire that the simple keys I have written about here today will help to facilitate this purpose and promote a greater understanding of the divine power to create that lives within us all. May we all visualize the Dawning of a New Age of enlightenment and kindness as already existing. You have the power, flip the switch, 2012 is now.
