

Testing, Testing, 1, 2, 3 by Brian Piccolo © 2008

The Masters of Wisdom have been guiding humanity along for thousands of years. There are only Twelve Masters and a Thirteenth Overseer. They are never all incarnated into our level of existence at the same time. Over the millennia, they have stepped into the background while they have handed the reins of self-government, and self-reliance, to humanity and its human leaders. Every century brings its own testing of humanity just to see just how far we have actually grown.

In the 1850's, we were exposed to spiritualism, by the Masters of Wisdom, in order to jump-start our consciousness away from physical materialism. It was hoped that the mediums being used at that time, coupled with physical manifestations created by the use of the medium's own ectoplasm, would impress the scientific community. Mediums at that time were able to manifest hands and faces floating in the air out of their own ectoplasm. This was a test for humanity. How did we do? Not too good. Instead of causing the scientific community to see beyond the concept of the physical atom, people began to believe that the mediums were actually talking to the dead.

This was not what the Masters of Wisdom had hoped for. Unconscious mediums cannot talk to the dead because the dead are conscious in their own higher ego. The medium must be able to be conscious in their own higher self in order to talk directly to the dead. This is why JZ Knight, a great channel for the entity Ramtha, has whole chapters missing from her waking life. She is not here when Ramtha is talking through her. JZ Knight was tested by the scientific community and found to be in the 'Delta' state when Ramtha is talking. The Delta state is an absolute trance like state for the lower ego. I like JZ Knight very much and I consider her an authentic channel, as are many others. While it is true that not all those who channel are unconscious, JZ Knight is a modern example of those who are.

With the exposure of Thomas Edison, and Albert Einstein, to occult writings like the Secret Doctrine, hidden forces came into their thinking that allowed them to conceive of metaphysical conceptualizations they otherwise would not have. From the light bulb to the atom bomb, came humanity's next test. How did we do? Well, World War I, and World War II, kind of speaks for itself.

We are now to the point, for the first time in history, when we as a human race, can actually threaten the health of the whole global environment itself. We are now capable of destroying ourselves with just the physical means at our disposal. What are the Masters of Wisdom sending us from the spiritual realms now? They are sending us the message that we have also acquired the ability to now co-create the physical world through our own thoughts and desires. We have become as little gods. We are being let out of our human playpens and the safety switches are offline.

The test for humanity now is, "What will I create today?" While it is fine to visualize for yourself, better health, a better job, and a loving family, should we not spend some time visualizing a better president, an honest and responsible government, an end to famine, a united world of peace, the end to corporate exploitation of the planet and its inhabitants? You see, we either all get there together or no one gets there at all.

The Masters of Wisdom cannot leave our solar system without us. They and a whole host of other higher beings cannot evolve by leaving us behind. We are part of their ability to evolve. They do not want us to fail. They need us to succeed. We are their project. The same is true for us. We cannot become a Buddha on our own. Everyone is our teacher. It takes a whole planet to create one Buddha. Consider adding five minutes a day to meditating on world peace and prosperity while meditating on that new car you want to manifest in your life. Everyone will thank you.
